Child Protective Investigations

Alternative Response (AR) and Investigations (INV) assess safety/risk and identify services needed to support the family. Cases initially presenting with less immediate safety or risk issues follow the AR track while high risk cases such as severe physical and sexual abuse follow the traditional investigative track. In AR there is no alleged perpetrator, no disposition, and no entry into the Central Registry.

The number of opened Investigation and Alternative Response stages in FY25 Q3 was lower than FY24 Q3.

A Preliminary Look at Fiscal Year 2025 Q1 - Q3 Child Protective Investigations

Priority 1 contacts with children are to be made within 24 hours and Priority 2 contacts with children are to be made within 72 hours. If contact is attempted in the timeframe, but the child is not seen face-to-face, those efforts are counted in the "actual or attempted" metric, but not the "actual" metric.

Data source: ted_01 Note: Face-to-Face percentages calculated in the month the case was closed.

Timeliness in P1 and P2 face-to-face actual or attempted contacts during FY25 Q1-Q3 showed continued improvement from FY24.

A family-initiated PCSP is a type of safety plan used when the situation meets both of the following criteria: 1) There is an immediate danger to a child 2) All options allowing the child and the parent or legal guardian to remain in the home together were exhausted.

The distinct count of children in Parental Child Safety Placements is trending higher than FY24, but children are spending less time out of the home.

Data source: cps_pcspp_06

Fiscal Year summary data as of 4/7/25.

Distinct Children in PCSP - Counts reflect a distinct count of children (0-17 years old) per region in at least one active PCSP for the fiscal year. Children in multiple active PCSPs for the reporting period are only counted once. If a child had multiple active PCSP's during the month in different regions, they will be counted once per region.

Average Days Duration in PCSP - Average days are cumulative meaning days from previous months are included when the PCSP remains active at the end of the fiscal year. State Totals for Average days is the total number of days in an active PCSP divided by the number of distinct children in an active PCSP during that period.
